DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-6 and 18-19 are rejected under 35 USC §103(a). This rejection is set forth in the prior Office action mailed on March 8, 2007.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on April 11, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that the range of addition of the highly refined Birch pulp is from 0.1-10%, which the examiner agrees. However, the most preferably range is from 4 to 6% and all of the examples show the same preferred range, i.e., 4 to 6%. Since the cited reference uses the same birch pulp, refined to the same degree and added at the same preferred range then it naturally follows that the addition amount is within the claimed range. Moreover, while applicants state in the specification that unexpectedly adding lower amount of xylan the tissue has increased strength, no evidence has been shown that the tissues of the present application are different than that of the cited references. The examples only show that the tissues are made using the claimed amount of xylan, but there is nothing that shows any of the properties of the tissue, e.g., wet strength. It is the examiner's contention that the paper of the cited reference would have the same properties, as the claimed tissue as evidenced by the addition of the same range of the birch pulp or that at the very least using the claimed range would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

As to claim 18, the examiner contention is not that that the cited reference teaches the properties of the cationic fixing agent, but that choosing the molecular weight of the polymeric substance is within the levels of ordinary skill in the art and obvious absent a showing of unexpected results. It has been held that "[T]he discovery of an optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill of the art. In re Antoine, 559 F.2d 618, 195 USPQ 6 (CCPA 1977); In re Aller, 42 CCPA 824, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233 (1995).

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure in the art of "The use of Xylan in multi-ply tissues."

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
